

searching for truth and creating something new all the time.

To the Adyar Headquarters, I wish skilful and dedicated workers.

To the movement I wish also vitality and seeing that different Theosophical groups have between themselves more similarities than differences.

