

Anecdote about a child (5)

Children ask better questions than adults. “May I have a cookie?” “Why is the sky blue?” And “What does a cow say?” are far more likely to elicit a cheerful response than “Where’s your manuscript?” “Why haven’t you called?” And “Who’s your lawyer?”