

Leadership should be born out of the understanding of the needs of those who would be affected by it.

Marian Anderson
(was an African-American contralto)